Connecting Theology, Ecology and Race

A Conversation on Environmental Justice

Presented by Dr. Elaine Nogueira-Godsey

Associate Professor of Theology, Ecology and Race

Methodist Theological School in Ohio

Dr. Elaine Nogueira-Godsey is associate professor of theology, ecology and race at Methodist Theological School in Ohio. She brings a global perspective to her teaching and scholarly research. A native of Brazil, where she received her bachelor's degree, she earned her master's and Ph.D. from the University of Cape Town in South Africa.

Dr. Nogueira-Godsey has written extensively on the intersection of ecology, race, gender and theology. In July, the GlobalChurch Project named her one of "18 Latin American female theologians you should know about."

The Theological Commons at MTSO is a means through which the school shares intellectual resources with the church and the world through dialogue with the broader community. By offering events, learning resources and continuing conversation, the Theological Commons promotes the sharing of knowledge and experience between students, faculty, clergy and the public for the benefit of all participants and those they serve.
