MACM Degree - Mission & Goals

Life is sacred. Human problems are complex. Transformation requires wisdom, love and hope. The MACM program seeks to equip persons with broad theological foundations, psychological and behavioral-sciences grounding, and counseling skills to help troubled persons, families and communities find meaning, healing and growth.

1. Graduates will have knowledge of major theories of counseling and psychotherapy, and psychosocial and life-cycle-development concepts.
2. Graduates will have the ability to integrate psychological and behavioral sciences with the wisdom from religion/spirituality in the therapeutic process.
3. Graduates will have the ability to utilize the DSM IV-TR and developmental theory to diagnostically relate to and therapeutically respond to a variety of clients.
4. Graduates will have awareness and sensitivity to multicultural dynamics and issues of difference (race, gender, age, economics etc.).
