

Scholarships are awarded each year to full-time students demonstrating the academic and personal qualifications identified by our donors for the scholarships they sponsor. We're pleased you're applying.

Academic achievement (GPA of 3.0 or higher on a 4.0 scale), significant leadership in the church and/or community, and potential for ministry and/or community engagement are important factors considered in these awards. You must be admitted to a degree program in order to be awarded a scholarship. You must also file the FAFSA in order to be considered for need-based aid (grants and federal work-study).

ESSAY

Challenges that face our world and our communities are often repeated throughout history. However, they take on new shapes based on their current contexts. Below are four topics that the United States and other countries continue to encounter. Choose one topic from the list below. Then find three current articles (published within the past year) that address that topic from different angles. Summarize each article's stance and include citations for each. Use the authors' perspectives, along with your own, to explain how the topic of choice might impact your current and future professional life and how you might impact the topic. (Length: 1,500-2,000 words.)

- Climate Justice
- Gender Justice
- Income Justice
- Migrant Justice

Please do not use Wikipedia or any other user-edited resource. If possible, look for articles published in peer-reviewed academic journals and publications. You will find credible articles through the research links on the websites of local college and public libraries. If you choose an article or blog post as one of your resources, please ensure that the author is an expert. For example, you might choose an author associated with an unbiased and well-respected news outlet, publisher or periodical (Westminster John Knox Press, BBC, Wall Street Journal etc.); an accredited academic institution; or a well-established organization (an international non-governmental organization, a worldwide denomination etc.).
