Failure to drop or withdraw from a class by the deadline will result in a grade of “UW” for the class. A grade of “UW” will be calculated in the cumulative GPA as a grade of “F”.

Transient Students

Current graduate degree-seeking students at other regionally accredited colleges or universities may enroll at Claremont School of Theology for academic credit as transient students. Transient students must be in good academic standing at their home institution and must be eligible to return to their home institution for further study. All Transient students must complete the Transient Student Enrollment Request form and have it approved by the Registrar or Dean at their current school. The Transient Student Enrollment Request form and a Registration form should be returned to the Claremont School of Theology Office of the Registrar by the first day of class.

Admission to Claremont School of Theology

All students wishing to enroll in a Summer 2023 class for academic credit who have not previously enrolled at Claremont School of Theology and students who are registering for Advanced Course of Study credit must complete and submit a Non-Degree Application for Admission.

Please note that Non-Degree applicants including students interested in taking a class for Advanced Course of Study credit will be required to provide proof of completion of a Bachelor of Arts degree.

Students who have been admitted to Claremont School of Theology for the Fall 2023 semester and have confirmed their admission may register for the Summer 2023 without completing a Non-degree application.

Please contact the Claremont School of Theology Admissions Office for information on applying as a Non-degree student.

Summer 2023 Course Descriptions

IDM4003 DMIN Context of Ministry and Project

This course aims to equip Doctor of Ministry students with the necessary competency to conduct qualitative research within religious contexts. Qualitative research methods have become increasingly significant in the field of Practical Theology, and this course seeks to provide students with the skills to conceptualize, conduct, and write their D. Min. Project. Through this course, students will gain insight into how to select a focused research problem, be introduced to qualitative research methods and formulate research design, learn bibliographic research methods, structure the written form and argument of the D. Min. Professional Research Project, write a literature review, and properly document their research.

IDM4034 Interpreting Conflict, Healing and Reconciliation in the Old Testament

As a course of the Doctor of Ministry Program in Practical Theology related to Conflict, Healing, and Transformation in Korean Contexts, this course will provide students with biblical foundations for dealing with contemporary conflict, healing, and reconciliation topics. For this aim, students will read several texts from the Hebrew Bible/Old Testament to identify problems/issues of the text and estimate how much the textual scope gives the reader interpretational freedom. Then, the course introduces various contemporary perspectives to ponder the methodologies with the critical examinations of hermeneutics. Based on these observations, this course will eventually help students make a new interpretation within the textual scope and use that interpretation to propose a practical project in their ministry.

TDS3000 United Methodist Doctrine

This course examines the foundations of United Methodist theology. Students will explore the theological emphases of the early Wesleyan movement and major theological transitions in the 19th and 20th centuries. This course is designed to meet the United Methodist Church's ordination requirements for a course in UMC doctrine.

TDS3001 United Methodist History

This course explores the history of the United Methodist Church with an emphasis on the theological, historical, and contextual factors that shape its organizational structure, worship, and attitudes toward social issues. This course is designed to meet the United Methodist Church's ordination requirements for a course in UMC History.

TDS3002 United Methodist Polity

This course examines the missional priorities, ecclesiological forms, structure, and governance of the United Methodist Church that undergird its effort to 'make disciples of Jesus Christ for the transformation of the world'. Students will explore the church's doctrinal statements as well as its understanding of ordination, conferencing, superintendency, and the local church. This course is designed to meet the United Methodist Church's ordination requirements for a course in UMC Polity.

TNT3037/4037 Spiritual Experience in Early Christian Life and Literature

Direct and indirect experiences of the divine are a cornerstone of ancient literature and history. At all levels of society, people experienced contact and communication with the spirits and gods that inhabited the world with them. Building from modern psychological, anthropological, and sociological approaches to spiritual experience, this course will examine such experiences in the literature of early Christianity and the cultural contexts of the ancient Mediterranean.

TPS3081/4081 Intimacy with God: Process, Jungian, and Mystical Perspectives

This course will explore philosophical, theological, and psychological frameworks for understanding God's immanence. Since an intimate relationship with God is best understood through lived encounters, participants will ground theoretical and empirical study in the experiential through mystical readings and personal practice. Students will be invited to enter more deeply into their own spiritual life through such practices as dream work, journaling, and reflection. Appropriate for ministry, chaplaincy, and doctoral students in religion, theology, or psychology.

TSC 3060/4060 Short-term Counseling in Religious and Spiritual Contexts

The course introduces a short-term counseling approach that is faithful, effective, and ethical; sensitive to context; and appropriate for religious leaders with limited time and expertise. Learning and applying a spiritual-theological and clinical framework that can be adapted to various settings (chaplaincy, faith communities, community organizing, etc.), students learn, and practice (a) skills and interventions rooted in social-constructionist psychology and (b) a counseling model that emphasizes mutuality, relational justice, and attention to people on the margins. Pre- or corequisite: TSC3004 or an equivalent.
